Riches.
If a' the leaves were gowden leaves,
An' each dewdrop a gem,
I wadna gie her gowden sheaves
O' Janey's hair for them;
Or her ees' glance,
Or dimples dance,
For royal diadem.

If a' the birds were singing' birds,
A' lillin' bars o' tune,
I wadna gie her lovin' words
For a' their songs in June;
Or her gay song,
The whole day long,
For ony their boon.

If a' the bells were heather bells,
Each ringin' merry chime,
I wadna gie her laughin' spells,
Though they rang a' the time;
No rher love tone,
Mixed wi' my own,
For a' that's ead sublime.
